Friday 10th March

Zoltan Sagi Quartet

An accomplished and widely-experienced musician, Zoltan is equally at home on the soprano, alto, tenor and baritone saxes. Born in Hungary, Zoltan draws inspiration from Cannonball Adderley, Johnny Hodges and Stan Getz.

Performing a blend of West Coast jazz and swing, the quartet features the music of Stan Getz and Artie Shaw, including many well-known standards. The Quartet features Al Gurr on piano, James Agg on bass, and Alan Wicket on drums.

Friday 14th April

Linda Angelis Quintet

Singer/songwriter Linda Angelis has toured extensively worldwide including sessions in Monterey and a concert for Black Hawk records. She is the vocalist for both the Dragon Jazz Band and the West Midland Light Orchestra. Her latest CD, co-written with pianist Stuart Goodhew, is titled 'Jazz in my Heart'.

Trumpet player Dick Pearce and Miles Levin on drums join this stellar quintet with originals taken from their albums, along with favourite jazz and bossa-nova standards.

Friday 12th May

Billy Thompson Gypsy Style

Billy is one of the finest and most exciting jazz violin virtuosos in the UK. A core member of Barbara Thompson's seminal jazz/rock outfit Paraphernalia, Billy and his group play a mixture of Hot Club numbers made immortal by Stephane Grappelli and Django Reinhardt, as well as Romany gypsy anthems, and Eastern European and Latin American melodies. For jazz violin and Hot Club enthusiasts this is not a concert to be missed.

Friday 9th June

Art Themen Quartet

One of the giants of British jazz, Art Themen was involved in the traditional jazz movement in Manchester in the late 1950's before becoming part of the early London blues scene, playing alongside Alexis Korner and Chuck Berry.

In 1974 he began his longstanding musical relationship with the revered Stan Tracey, playing with all of Tracey's groups for over 20 years.

Known for his originality and highly individual playing style Art and his Quartet make a rare and exciting visit to the Bonded Warehouse.

Friday 14th July

Devon Harrison and The Planet Jazz Trio

The 2016/17 season of concerts comes to its climax this evening when Devon brings his exciting new ensemble to the Bonded Warehouse.

Devon teams up again with the excellent Birmingham based pianist Richard Hughes, following on from their thrilling collaboration with the Mark Buckingham Quartet, and Stourbridge's talented bass player and guitarist Delano Mills, and introducing the new kid on the block an exciting fresh young talent, Tony Robinson on drums.
